A woman with long blonde hair is shown in profile, lit with a strong red light. She is holding a lit cigarette in her hand. The background is dark, and the overall mood is moody and intimate.

INTRO TO “SLOW BURN”

“Slow burn” EP was the consequence of an overbearing feeling of claustrophobia intensified by the pandemic. The inability to leave my flat, and living with strangers built up many feelings of frustration. As a result I sought out escape in over romanticizing a platonic relationship.

The constant longing to leave and start over are the central themes of the EP. I wanted to disappear from where I was physically but also wanted my mind to shut up. The only way to do that was dancing the pain away alone in my room, shaking off the heaviness and finding fleeting moments of relief with headphones on and a £10 disco light. Sonically that's exactly what the “Slow Burn” EP sounds like - sad songs with a sexy beat.
